

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

The Company does not use many industrial processes, products or materials and therefore our environmental impact is relatively limited. The Company however, takes environmental issues seriously and manages its responsibilities through the use of an environmental aspects and impacts register to prevent pollution and protect the environment.

The Company will:

- nominate an individual who will act as a referral point for all environmental issues, on individual jobs this will be the Project Manager / Contracts Manager;
- adopt the best environmental practices and comply, as a minimum, with the requirement of environmental legislation. In exercising this responsibility, recognition will be taken of guidance notes produced by both regulatory authorities and the Environmental Health / Safety Advisor;
- ensure that changes in processes, procedures, or the provision of new facilities, which could impact upon the environment, are referred to the named individual responsible for environmental issues at an early stage in their development;
- develop and foster good relationships with all relevant environmental regulatory bodies and will comply with the conditions imposed by any licenses, agreements, and permits etc., issued by such bodies;
- train and educate staff in the exercise of environmentally responsible actions, which will include the husbanding of all resources;
- adhere to its practice of segregating trade effluent, foul drainage and surface water for separate treatment and disposal;
- put in place procedures to ensure all spillage's or site accidents, which could compromise the surrounding environment, are reported promptly to the nominated individual responsible for environmental issues;
- consider recycling as the first option for the processing of all waste streams;
- develop waste minimisation plans and procedures for the conservation of energy;
- develop policies for the investigation of the environmental impact of suppliers, leading to a register of suitable suppliers;
- commit to continual improvement in environmental performance;
- set and monitor environmental objectives.
